◆◆Kelly's Background

Kelly is an exemplary workshop leader, public speaker, and coach who has worked with individuals and groups nationwide.

She is dynamic in in-person and has the unique skillset to engage participants in a virtual setting!

Kelly incorporates the insights she learned while earning her Six Sigma Greenbelt, MBA degree, ATD Adult Learning certification and Color Code trainer certification in her interactions. She combines her academic knowledge and training with her 20-plus years of real-world sales, teaching, and training experience to provide professional and personal insights.

Kelly's style provides a warmth to connect with the audience while commanding attention and interest in the presented message. In both group and individual coaching sessions, Kelly builds an environment of openness and safety leading to successful personal transformation for her clients that carries on beyond the coaching.

◆◆◆What Others Say About Kelly

I'll end this by expressing how beneficial the coaching sessions have been. "The "help me help you" approach... I'm continuing to build my relationships and working on getting more involved with clients. YAY!! I'm very thankful for all your time invested into me." – Karen S.

"I am SO glad I participated in NEXT! Kelly's coaching, insight, and encouragement helped me decide to finish my degree, and I now have four classes and one semester left until I graduate! Moving past fear and removing things that distracted me and wasted my time was a game changer, and I can't thank Kelly enough for her support!" Kim S.

"We received the surveys back, and your presentation ranked at the top! "The way you interact and get the audience to interact and participate is genius." – S. Wright

"Thank you for making time in your schedule to lead the Color Code workshop yesterday. It was a valuable event for students (and me), giving us insight into our behavior and those with whom we interact." - Don R.

"First and foremost, thank you for such a wonderful presentation yesterday. Your passion for the Color Code is evident, and your presentation skills are very engaging. I think it was a huge benefit for attendees but also our clients and family members!" - Kealie W.

"Thank you, Kelly. I feel like you have saved my life. I had to see myself and understand it's not bad to be me."- Catina C.

"A weight has lifted." – Lisa B.
